

DYNAMIC PROFILING

Level three: Strategic Power

Human behaviour is a series of complex neural strategies. As one strategy finishes another one starts.

The process of life & human existence is made up of these complex strategies. Strategies can be unique to an individual. Having an understanding of how these personal strategies operate is the equivalent to having someone's DNA profile in terms of behaviour.

You will have the ability to:

Elicit a person's strategies on a diverse range of subjects. Strategies include an individual's "buying process", "selling process", "convincer process", or "knowing truth from lie strategy". There are thousands of strategies. In the realms of business if you have a client's "decision", "buying" and "convincer" strategies identified, the deal is done!

Recognise your own strategies.

Know how to wrap your client's strategies around your product/service.
